THANK YOU!
THANK YOU! THANK YOU! THANK YOU!

Jeff and I want to thank you all so much for all the prayers for Jettson since his birth and to give you an update. There has been so much healing and we have also been able to connect with doctors who have helped him immensely. The most recent healing means airway reconstruction surgery won't be needed. He has been cleared to eat and also has overcome an oral aversion to having food in his mouth. Still working on chewing but loves ice cream and peanut butter! His progress is better than predicted and we are optimistic about removing the g-tube sooner than originally expected. He is also progressing well in other development.

We appreciate continued prayers!

Meghan (Crismon), Jeff, and Jettson Bezaire
